

A LipSense FAQ

LipSense Bottles are a 3 month supply if you wore it every day at its maximum staying power which is 3 coats.

Oops is for corrections and removal after at least 6hrs.

- If you try to remove Lipsense within the first hour it is very difficult and could cause chapped lips.

When trying a new LipSense colour, plan on wearing it for at least three-four hours even if you don't like the colour.

The first time you try Lipsense it can tingle and even almost feel like it is burning.

- This is because your lips are dry.

- It will stop tingling once you have finished the application and applied the moisturizing gloss.

- After you have used the Gloss for a day or two you will rarely ever experience the tingling again.

The reason Lipsense ever comes off is because your lips exfoliate. Usually every 8 - 10 hours or so.

- Because LipSense only adheres to your top layer of skin it comes off when your lips exfoliate & does not damage the underlying layers.

- The Gloss has Shea butter that penetrates several layers down, actually makes your lips healthier.

- The more moisturized your lips are the longer it will take your lips to exfoliate.

- Thus your LipSense will last longer if you keep your lips moist.

Can I combine colours?

Definitely. This is one of the benefits of the three-layer application. You can use any of the colours to come up with various new shades to best suit you. Some colours lend themselves to applying over others, mostly used for this are Pink and Gold Champagne.

Why do I notice a tingling sensation when I put on the LipSense lipcolour?

You have dry lips! Those without dry lips do not notice the tingling sensation. Dry lips are caused by repeated use of wax and paraffin based lipsticks, which by their nature can cause dry lip tissue. You can eliminate this by conditioning the lips for a few days and not using any wax based products. Once you use the LipSense and the LipSense moisture gloss on a regular basis the dry lips will be gone forever.

Is the LipSense lip colour FDA approved?

The FDA does not approve any products. The FDA does however, approve the ingredients in various products, and the ingredients in Lipsense are FDA approved.

How long will LipSense last?

The length of time the colour will last on anyone varies depending on several factors, one of which is body chemistry. Most women will find the colour will last all day, when reapplying the gloss throughout the day.

Why should I purchase the whole set?

As a person eats and drinks, the gloss comes off and needs to be reapplied a few times during the day to keep the colour renewed and increase it's staying power. If you are using the product properly you will see that the colour will last all day long. The Oops! Is useful, just in case you make any mistakes.

What happens if I should spill the lip colour on my clothes?

The colour is easily removed by dry-cleaning.

Does The Balm lip gloss work well over LipSense?

No!! I would not recommend using any other products over LipSense besides SeneGence Products if you want staying power.
